

thefutur

The Legal Kit

Professional Templates To Help Protect Your Business

COPYRIGHT © 2018 THE FUTUR, LLC
VERSION 1.0

---

Hello and congrats on picking up The Legal Kit! You now have the tools to run your business like a pro and protect your neck while you're at it.

This brief guide will help explain what each template is and when you might use it.

A QUICK NOTE

Please understand that these agreements are template versions of what we use for our business. The information provided in this guide and within the agreements themselves are not legal advice. And we are not attorneys.

Be sure to read each template carefully and modify it to suit the needs of your business.

If you have questions about any legal contracts please consult a licensed attorney.

Table of Contents

|                                  |    |
|----------------------------------|----|
| MSA                              | 6  |
| Schedule A IP                    | 7  |
| Schedule B SOW                   | 8  |
| Employee Agreement               | 10 |
| Independent Contractor Agreement | 11 |
| Media Release                    | 13 |
| NDA                              | 14 |

- Client Agreements

---

MSA

Short for Master Service Agreement, an MSA is a contract that outlines the terms of future service transactions between you and your client. It's intended to speed up the contract process by stating the expectations of both parties moving forward and should be the first agreement you and your client sign.

Use an MSA when working with a new client.

---

Schedule A IP

Intellectual Property (IP) is the end result from the service you provide for a client. In short, this provision defines who owns what after the project is completed e.g. deliverables, working files, third party content. You'll probably want to consult with an attorney to revise this and ensure you're retaining the proper rights for your business needs.

Use this to define who owns what and send along with your MSA.

---

Schedule B SOW

An SOW, or Statement of Work, defines the details of a particular project under the umbrella of the MSA. Things like scope, deliverables, schedule, payment and revision cycles of a project. Though you only need one MSA per client, you may send several SOWs for projects you work on with them.

Send this with your MSA and use it to outline the details of a particular project.

Employee Agreements

---

Employee Agreement

This agreement covers the most important terms for a new hire. It details their position, salary, benefits, work schedule and how to handle confidential information within your business.

Use this agreement when hiring a full-time employee.

---

Independent Contractor Agreement

Also known as a freelance or consultant agreement, this is intended to be used when hiring an outside vendor. The agreement covers a description of their services, the terms and length, payment details and any confidentiality clauses.

Use this agreement when hiring a freelancer or outside vendor that will invoice you for a service they provide.

Misc. Agreements

---

Media Release

This common release form grants you permission to sell and distribute another persons likeness via media (e.g. photographs, videos, audio recordings). Basically, it protects you from being sued from someone who appears in your content.

Use this release form anytime someone will appear visually or audibly in media you are capturing.

---

Mutual Non-Disclosure Agreement

Commonly referred to as an NDA, this agreement is used when you have sensitive materials, knowledge or information that you do not wish to be shared with anyone else.

Use this agreement before sharing or discussing sensitive information with another party.

Thank you.

For more products like this and courses about the business of creativity, visit academy.thefutur.com.

thefutur